“ I worked with Lyle Stillwell off and on for several years in the U.S Forest Service. I never worked with a finer man. Not a flashy guy, but always there when needed with the truth, honesty and hard work.

Grandpa was one of the very few people I could sit in a comfortable silence with and not have to feel pressured to keep a conversation going. I could just sit and be with him in the present moment. And it was awesome. He was an awesome soul and had a heart of gold. Good hard working man. Wonderful role model. He never had a whole lot to say but he always tried to make you laugh. I sure was blessed with a really great set of grandparents. They were always there for you. I bet the first thing grandma asked him was why did it take so long to join her? Love you with my whole heart and soul you dear sweet man. You have taught me so much through the years. Rest In Peace.
